HOLLIS WILL SUIT.

Strong Legal Fight in the Bracken Circuit Court For an Estate of $20,000.

The suit over the will of the late B. O. Hollis, on trial in the Bracken Circuit Court the past week or so, resulted Friday in a verdict for the contestants. An estate of about $20,000 is involved. Hollis left it all to his last wife, cutting off his children by a former marriage without anything. It was alleged, among other things, that he was unduly influenced by his last wife and was incapable of making a will because of mental infirmities.

Hon. E. L. Worthington, Mr. C. L. Sallee and ex-Congressman Clark are the attorneys for the widow, and will take the case to the Court of Appeals. Judge George Doniphan and George Kinney are the opposing counsel. An unusual feature of the case is that the widow holds a deed for the real estate, Hollis having conveyed it to her after he made the will. If the verdict against the will is affirmed, suit will probably be filed to set aside the deed to the widow. The litigation will likely continue for several years.

A few young friends of the Misses Nannie and Lottie Ball enjoyed a most delightful evening at their home Thursday, July 18th. Rev. H. T. Musselman arrived home Saturday after attending the convention of the Southern Baptist People's Union at Atlanta and the State convention at Georgetown. He delivered an address at both places, and was elected Secretary of the State Union.

The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Martin's infant son was held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the family residence, corner of Third and Lee streets, Rev. R. E. Moss officiating. The interment followed in the Maysville Cemetery. The child died Saturday morning after an illness of two days. Mr. and Mrs. Martin's friends deeply sympathize with them in their loss.

THACKER'S CRIME.

Murder For Which He Was Lynched Was a Brutal One—Gordon Not His Only Victim.

The remains of Wm. Thacker, who was hung by a mob at Flemingsburg Wednesday morning, were taken Thursday to Noah, Lewis County, for burial. Thacker was postmaster at Noah when he killed young John Gordon. The Times-Democrat thus details the brutal murder of Gordon: "Thacker and his son, a young man of perhaps twenty-one, came over from Lewis County it is supposed intent on raising trouble. It is stated that before he left home he told his wife he expected to kill somebody before he came back. Near Foxport he raised a row with Mr. Wycoff, who was building a fence along the pike, and who was assisted by one or two of his sons and John Gordon. Thacker got off his horse and attempted to provoke Wycoff into making such a demonstration as would give him a pretext for killing him, calling him all the vile names he felt like. Mr. Wycoff kept at his work, and presently Gordon approached and young Thacker at once began to curse him and call him vile names. Each started toward the other, Thacker drawing his knife as he went. Seeing the knife Gordon stooped down and picked up a pole to defend himself, and as he raised up with it the elder Thacker shot Gordon, the ball entering over the left eye, and ranging back and downward. Thacker stood over him with his pistol for some time and refused to allow anyone to move him, or do anything for him until the Coroner came. Finally he directed some of those who had come upon the scene to build a shelter over him, and afterward allowed the dying boy to be moved to the shade on the side of the pike. As showing the utter heartlessness of the man, it developed in proof in the case that when a physician arrived on the scene and was examining the wound in Gordon's head, Thacker asked him to see if the ball did not go through the head, saying, 'This is a d—d good pistol and the ball ought to have gone through.'"

Gordon was not Thacker's only victim. Some years ago Thacker killed Jeff Fields of Fleming County, and later was charged with killing an old woman named Crow.

Going to the Old Camp Ground at Ruggles. Mrs. Jane Morris and daughter, Mrs. W. L. Davidson, from Covington, have arrived, and gone to the most beautiful grove that can be found. Mrs. Ben McClanahan and family, Rev. J. S. Young and family have also gone to the grounds. Quite a number are going to-morrow. The meeting will begin on Thursday and everything points to the best meeting that has ever been held on these noted grounds. Mr. I. M. Lane has two or three rooms and cottages yet to let.

—Mr. Percy Lee, of Knoxville, arrived Sunday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Lee, and to attend the marriage of his sister next Wednesday.

—Miss Jennie Moore, the popular and successful teacher of music will return Sept. 14th, to take charge of the music class at Hayswood.
